COMMEMORATIVE MEDALS STRUCK AT THE U.S. MINT

Many people seem concerned about the lack of commemorative coins which were last struck in 1954. However, a much ignored fact is that we still have beautiful commemoratives struck by the U. S. mint; — commemorative medals to be sure and not the half dollars of old, but struck under the same circumstances and truly a continuation of the commemorative half dollar series.

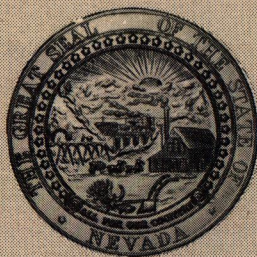

Legislation for these commemoratives is introduced by our congressmen and usually referred to the committee on banking and currency. When favorably recommended by the committee, a bill is passed by one house and sent to the other, after which it is signed into law by the President of the United States.

The striking of these medals is sponsored by non-profit commissions and associations to commemorate important historic events or people of our great nation. The proceeds are used for permanent memorials in many cases or to offset the expenses of centennial celebrations. There were some abuses to be sure, but we'll go into these toward the end of this article.

No. 1

The Nevada Silver Centennial Medal

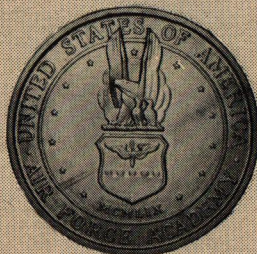

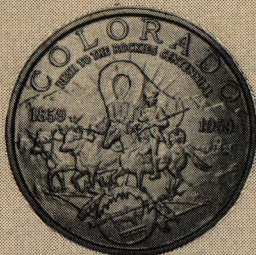

Designed by Frank Gasparro — 1-5/16" diameter of .900 fine silver. One thousand of these were issued on the 100th anniversary of the discovery of silver in the territory of Nevada in 1859. These medals were made from a Panamint ball of Nevada silver which was shipped to the Philadelphia Mint. Years ago, Nevada mining interests, to thwart the constant robbery of their silver bars in shipment, hit upon the idea of melting the bars into one big ball which would be too big to steal and transport by would-be thieves. The idea worked and hence the use of this large ball of silver for the centennial celebration.

The obverse is a reproduction of the great seal of Nevada. The reverse border reads, NEVADA SILVER CENTENNIAL 1859-1959, with, VIRGINIA CITY / NEVADA / JUNE 1959, on a plain field in the center.

No. 2

Rush to the Rockies Centennial

This next medal commemorates the 100th anniversary of the Rush to the Rockies and the opening of the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado. Designed by Frank Gasparro, it is 1-5/16" diameter of .900 fine silver. There were 10,000 issued.

The obverse depicts an oxen team drawing a covered wagon with two pioneers mounted on horses — flintlocks cradled in their arms on their westward trek. There is also a bow, arrow and buffalo hide shield, symbols of the Indians impediment to progress. All this is against a backdrop of the lofty peaks of the Rockies. The border reads, COLORADO / RUSH TO THE ROCKIES CENTENNIAL / 1859 - 1959.

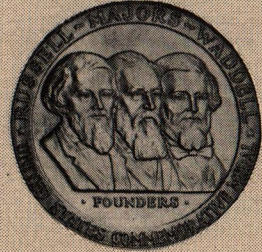

The reverse around the border says, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA * AIR FORCE ACADEMY *. In the center is the emblem of the academy and the Roman numeral date 1959 and 13 stars.

No. 3

The Pony Express Centennial

The Pony Express Centennial, 1860-1960, was next. Designed by Frank Gasparro and sized 1-5/16" diameter, it was struck in both .900 fine silver and bronze. Five thousand were issued in silver and 50,000 in bronze.

The obverse of both bears the legend on the outside border, NATIONAL PONY EXPRESS CENTENNIAL ASSOCIATION 1860 * 1960, in the center is a picture of the famous Hansen P.E. horse and rider, the symbol of the Pony Express. The reverse along the outer border reads, RUSSELL - MAJORS - WADDELL * UNITED STATES COMMEMORATIVE MEDAL, the busts of the three named founders in the middle.

Beneath it appears, THE PONY EXPRESS / TERMINATED BY THE TELEGRAPH / SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH / OCTOBER 24, 1861.

The reverse depicts a dismounted rider with horse looking toward the telegraph wires under which is inscribed, AN IMMORTAL SERVICE / TO THE UNION / A. LINCOLN; circling the entire design is the legend, * THE PONY EXPRESS * ST. JOSEPH TO SACRAMENTO.

The reverse of the first medal was designed by Frank Gasparro and shows the first capitol of our country. No. 16

The American Numismatic Association

The ANA Diamond Anniversary medal, 1891-1966, was struck in bronze, 3" in diameter. The obverse was designed by Frank Gasparro, the reverse by Frank Gasparro and E. Steever. The authorization by Congress was for a maximum of 50,000 medals, although far less were struck.

The obverse portrays the founding fathers of ANA with DR. G. F. HEATH / FOUNDER in the center; W. JERREMS / FIRST PRESIDENT to the left and J. HOOPER / FIRST VICE PRESIDENT to the right. Below the busts are A.N.A. — CHARTERED BY CONGRESS — 1912, and the dates, 1891 - 1966; above, in large letters, the words, DIAMOND JUBILEE.

The reverse has the official seal of ANA with the symbolic lamp of learning, the book of ancient history in the center and the motto, DE PROFUNDIS (out of the depths), this is encircled by, AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION ORGD 1891 and an outer circle with * IN COMMEMORATION OF THE SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY * BY ACT OF CONGRESS / APRIL 16, 1966. Unfortunately, none were struck in the standard 1-5/16" diameter size.

No. 17

U. S. Navy Seabees

A dual purpose medal, this was struck to commemorate the 25th anniversary, 1942-1967, of the U. S. Navy Seabees on one side and the centennial of the U. S. Navy Civil Engineers Corps on the other. It has been made available in two different sizes, a 3" silver and bronze and also 1-5/16" in both metals. The smaller medals are almost proof in quality. Maximum overall authorization was for 100,000 medals. These were designed by Felix de Weldon, sculptor of Iwo Jima Flag Raising fame.

The Seabee side of the medal depicts four men maneuvering a large cement bucket held by a crane hook, the men are spreading the wet cement. Around the outside is inscribed TWENTYFIFTH ANNIVERSARY 1942 U. S. NAVY SEABEES 1967. Above the men can be found, in Latin, CONSTRUIMUS BATUIMUS and below CAN DO, the Seabee motto. This side is all in high relief and has no rim.

The other side has a rim within which appears the legend, 1867 CENTENNIAL 1967 U. S. NAVY CIVIL ENGINEER CORPS. In the center is a map of the world, which is above the CEC insignia, and below a model of a sailing ship and navigational instruments. Above, the word "ENGINEER," near the bottom, is the "P" mint mark for the Philadelphia Mint. It is believed to be the first medal incorporating the mint mark.

The proceeds from the sale of these medals will be used for the Seabee Museum at Port Hueneme, California and for the establishment of branch museums in Davisville and Gulfport.

No. 18

The Federal Land Bank

The Federal Land Banks' 50th Anniversary medal, 1917-1967, was designed by artists of the New York firm of Dudley-Anderson-Yutzey. It is a 3" golden bronze medal, limited by law to a striking of 2,000 copies.

The obverse has a center oval which reads, FEDERAL / LAND BANKS, above are the words, GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY, and below, 1917 - 1967.

The reverse has the golden anniversary symbol in the center, the oval shape representing the Federal Land Banks. At the opening at the bottom of the oval is a farmer's implanting hand, capital put into action, and a sprig through the center of the oval — the symbol of growth and plenty. Above this are the words, DEDICATED TO AMERICA'S FARMERS, and below, PROVIDERS OF PLENTY.

This particular medal is very difficult to obtain. One was presented to President Johnson, one to former President Eisenhower, one to Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, another to Governor Robert B. Footell of the Farm Credit Administration and thirteen (one to each member) of the Federal Farm Credit Board. The remainder were allocated to the nation's twelve Federal Land Banks for them to award during the course of the year to individuals or organizations which have made outstanding contributions to agricultural progress.

Alaska Purchase Centennial

This medal was struck to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the purchase of Alaska from Russia. This 40mm piece (about 1-9/16") was struck in three metals with a maximum authorization of 100,000 pieces. Ten thousand were struck in silver, the first 2,500 of which were serially numbered and the balance ordered were struck in bronze. Platinum pieces were available in case numbered sets matched with the silver and bronze and were sold on a reservation-only basis at $500 each and only within the state of Alaska.

The obverse depicts a prospector with pack, pick and shovel on his back and rifle in hand as he strides meaningfully forward. The border reads, 1867 NORTH TO THE FUTURE 1967, on top and, ALASKA PURCHASE CENTENNIAL, on the bottom. The "P" mintmark appears again in front of the prospector's left foot.

The reverse has a circle about a fourth of an inch in from the edge, around it reads, ALASKA PURCHASE CENTENNIAL 1867 - 1967. Running through the circle is a symbolic totem pole depicting at the bottom a Russian church surmounted by an American eagle, then a rancher and a locomotive topped by a star with 49 in the center for the 49th state. There is a backdrop of mountains and to the right of the totem pole is a flag showing the big dipper and the North star.

No. 20

Liberty Series — Ellis Island National Shrine

A fourth medal was added to the Liberty Series (nos. 13, 14, and 15). Statistics are given with no. 13.

E. Steever collaborated with Frank Gasparro on the reverse which depicts the Ellis Island facilities with two ships at the wharf and below in small lettering, 1892—75TH ANNIVERSARY—1967 / 15 MILLION IMMIGRANTS ENTERED / AMERICA THROUGH THESE PORTALS. Again the shield, this time with a rendering of an immigrant family. Around, ELLIS ISLAND NATIONAL SHRINE, above, and * DOORWAY TO FREEDOM *, below.

Thus far, since 1954, the number of commemorative medals that have been struck at the U. S. Mint in bronze, silver and silver proof continues to grow. The different metals enhance the beauty of the entire set.

There were a few special medals struck for the preceding groups but these are not available to the general public. One thousand $2\frac{1}{4}$ ", .900 fine silver medals were struck as presentation pieces to each of the thousand riders who participated in the centennial rerun of the actual Pony Express route. Three thousand of the founder's medals were struck in high relief, $2\frac{1}{4}$ " in diameter, in silver and box numbered with 32 being presented to officers and directors of the National Pony Express Centennial Association, and 1000, $2\frac{1}{4}$ ", silver termination medals were offered to the general public at \$30 each.

By special concession, the Office of Domestic Gold and Silver Operations allowed five gold Padre Junipero Serra medals to be struck for presentation to President Johnson, Pope Paul VI, Generalissimo Franco, Serra International, and one for loan to California museums. There were also 25 of these struck in platinum and sold for $750 each, quite beyond the reach of the average collector.

The MacArthur medal was also struck in $3\frac{1}{8}$ " diameter, bronze, but entailed a donation of \$1,000 to the MacArthur Memorial Foundation.

Thirty ANA 75th Anniversary medals were struck in silver for presentation to elected and appointed officers and to high ranking government and treasury officials. One of these sold at the Indiana State convention in May, 1968 for $525. (Incidentally, ANA members who failed to order a bronze specimen may still obtain copies from the ANA Headquarters, PO Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colorado 80901 at a cost of $5.00 each. — Ed.)

The entire Liberty Series medals are also available in $2\frac{1}{2}$ " diameter, bronze, and, in addition, seven gold medals of the Ellis Island National Shrine were struck for presentation purposes.

For the most part the regular issue price of these medals ran from a modest $8 to $30 each for the silver and from $2 to $10 for the bronze.

There were only a few abuses in the issue of these, some of which were misguided thinking on the part of the issuing agency, and one of which was attempted profiteering by the franchised distributor. One state limited its proof medal to state residents only and it took some doing to obtain this medal. Another group tried to tie in the sale of the mint medal to a series of non-mint medals, but just by not buying the others you could still get the mint medal at the issue price.

At the time this article is being written there are about eight more bills before Congress for authorization for new commemorative medals. Below is a list to watch for:

1. 250th Anniversary of Founding of San Antonio.
2. 300th Anniversary of Exploration of Father Jacques Marquette.
3. 200th Anniversary of the Founding of San Diego.
4. 150th Anniversary of the State of Mississippi.
5. 50th Anniversary of the American Legion.
6. 100th Anniversary of America's

First Transcontinental Railroad.

7. Commemorative medals for astronauts Grissom, White and Chaffee.

8. Commemorative medal for Walt Disney.

Numbers 2, 3, 4 and 5 have already been signed into law by President Johnson. Here is your opportunity to start your collection of commemorative medals struck by the United States mint, but first a cautious note — please remember that these medals are not, and I repeat, are not obtainable from the U. S. mint. They are obtainable only through the commissions who were authorized to have them struck. You must watch your coin journals for information on them. Remember, too, they are not privately struck medals promoted by private interests with full page ads, so look for small stories and news items.

My thanks to Miss Eva Adams, director of the mint, for authenticating and providing many of the unpublished facts brought forth in this article.

Our national convention is fast approaching and many of our numismatic friends and members still need to decide to join us in San Diego during the week of August 20-24 at the El Cortez Hotel. I hope you can arrange your plans to be with us and enjoy the many varied programs designed to satisfy most every numismatic interest.

To assist you at this late date to secure sleeping quarters is Mrs. Mary Menko, Housing Supervisor, San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau, 330 A. Street, San Diego, California 92102. She will arrange to place you as convenient as possible to all ANA activities.

The 77th anniversary convention committees, under the able leadership of Al Baber as general chairman, are to be congratulated for all the time and effort which already has been put into the plans and programs for this convention.

Since the association's fiscal year ended in June, I would like to express my sincere appreciation to those who have so courageously and tirelessly carried on the work of running our association in Colorado Springs.

I especially thank Ed Rochette, acting executive director, and his loyal staff of workers who have nobly carried on the operation of our vast association during the past year.

William Henderson, our treasurer, Don Sherer and others have assisted immensely to keep the association headed in the right direction. The work and efforts of all the ANA committees are to be commended for their work, efforts and accomplishments in performing the duties relevant to each committee and thereby greatly expanding the effectiveness of our association.

Article VII, Conventions, Section 2(a) of the by-laws states, "A Committee on Papers whose duty shall be to invite members and others to furnish papers which will be considered for publication." This committee, which is separate from the Heath Literary Awards Committee, has been appointed and Glenn B. Smedley has accepted the chairmanship.

We invite you to submit papers on numismatic subjects for possible publication in The Numismatist. Our editor, Ed Rochette, informs me that we are in need of articles dealing with U. S. numismatic material.

Much has been said about securing new members for the American Numismatic Association—the simplest way to accomplish this is to sign up your friends and associates who are not members but are interested in our mutual hobby.

New and Recent Issues

by Ernst Kraus, LM 129

It is the important duty of The Numismatist to record and illustrate new coins. To accomplish this, members in the United States and abroad are invited to submit new issues to Ernst Kraus, Room 939 (include room number in address), 393 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 10001. Coins will be photographed and returned as soon as possible, and a credit line will be given to anyone assisting.

Burundi

Burundi is a small republic in eastern Africa. Bordered and bothered by the Congo, Rwanda and Tanzania, the troubles of her neighbors sometimes spill across the borders. Last year, Burundi experienced repercussions from the rebellious white mercenaries of the Congo under Col. Jean Schramme. Retreating from the Congolese army, Schramme's forces crossed into Burundi and then threatened reprisals against the country for alleged cooperation with the Congolese. The country's main export is coffee, the United States the main customer.

Burundi has had struck at the Brussels Mint a new issue of coins but reports are that it will not be placed into circulation for several months.

5 francs, 1968. Aluminum. Obverse: value in French and Burundi, 5 FRANCS - AMAFRANGA, between two laurel branches; BRB monogram below, and in French around, BANQUE DE LA REPUBLIQUE DU BURUNDI. Reverse: three small stars in center; motto around in Burundi and in French, two lines, UBUMWE - IBIKORWA - AMAJAMBERE / UNITE - TRAVAIL - PROGRES; oak leaves with branches below; date at bottom between mintmarks of the Brussels mint; Burundi legend around, IBANKI YA REPUBLIKA Y'UBURUNDI. Reeded edge, diameter 25mm, thickness 2mm.

Czechoslovakia

The National Museum in Prague, Czechoslovakia, is world renowned for its paintings and other objets d'art, a must on any scholar's or tourist's itinerary. The latest Czech commemorative coin celebrates the museum's 150th anniversary. Even though the museum was first started in 1818, it was not until the latter part of the 19th century that it was completed.

25 korun, 1968. Silver. Obverse: arms of the republic; legend below, CESKOSLOVENSKA SOCIALISTICKA REPUBLIKA;

at the base, a sprig of blossoms and a leaf from the Linden, the Czech national tree; Latin legend around, PATRIAE DECORI CIVIBUS EDUCANDIS. Reverse: the National Museum in Prague; value below, KCS 25; legend around, NARODNI MUSEUM V PRAZE 1818 - 1968; designer's name, M. KNOBLOCH, at steps of museum. Edge design: ornamental crosses around. 34mm diameter, weight 16 grams, 50% silver. Struck at the state mint in Kremnitz.

Great Britain

Great Britain will convert to decimal coinage in 1971 and with conversion, new coinage designs. The devices were selected from a public competition which attracted 83 entrants including 15 artists experienced in coin design. Nearly one thousand different designs were considered before final selections were made. Below are the first two of the decimal coins released for circulation on April 23, 1968. They will replace their counterparts of one and two shillings and at the same time acquaint the public with the new currency system.

5 new pence, 1968. Copper-nickel. Obverse: crowned bust of the Queen to right; legend around, ELIZABETH II D(EI) G(RATIA) REG(INA) F.D. (Defender of the Faith) 1968. The portrait of Queen Elizabeth is by Arnold Machin, first introduced in 1964 on other commonwealth coins. Reverse: crowned thistle, part of the Scottish arms; numeral 5 below; legend at top, NEW PENCE. Reeded edge, diameter 23.6mm.

10 new pence, 1968. Copper-nickel. Obverse: similar to above.

The new reverses were designed by Christopher Ironside, well-known for his sculptured clocks and mirrors, as well as theatrical designs and some medals.

Iceland

Iceland is an old country, its first settlers came from Norway in the year 874 and it became a republic in 1930. It later voted to place itself under the King of Norway, but in the 14th century came under Danish rule. Current independence came to the Kentucky-sized nation in 1944. A new system of coinage will be introduced over the next two-year period according to Sigurdur Th. Thorlaksson, ANA member from Reykjavik, the capital city.

The former system included: 1 eyrir, last issued in 1966; 2 aurar, not seen in circulation for 20 years; 5 aurar, last issued in 1966; 10 aurar, to be continued; 25 aurar, issue to be stopped soon; 1 krona, to be continued; and 2 kronur, issue to be stopped. All the copper coins are to be melted down after December 31, 1968 (1, 2, and 5 aurar). Also to be discontinued are the 5 and 10 kronur banknotes.

The new system will provide: 10 aurar, 50 aurar and 1, 5, 10 and 50 kronur coins. The first of the new series, the 10 kronur was released on May 6, 1968, although dated 1967.

Monetary Union of West Africa

The Monetary Union of West Africa is a creation of France comprising of most of her former dependencies in Africa. The plan is to create a common franc area and eventually a common currency. At present it consists of the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Upper Volta, Mauritania, Niger, Senegal and Togo. Mali is negotiating its return to the Union. On March 30, 1968, the Mali franc became convertible at the exchange rate of MF100 for 1 French franc or for 50 CFA francs. This move marked the second stage of the return of Mali to the franc zone. The last stage envisaged is the re-entry of Mali in the West African Monetary Union.

100 francs, 1967. Nickel. Obverse: native design in center; legend around, BANQUE CENTRALE DES ETATS DE L'AFRIQUE DE L'OUEST. Reverse: value in center surrounded by floral design; date between Paris mintmarks below; legend around, UNION MONETAIRE OUEST AFRICAINE. Reeded edge, 26mm diameter, weight 7 grams.

"An incident in connection with the arrangements for laying the cornerstone in the new Tammany Hall Building came to light with the last-minute receipt by registered mail from the Director of the Mint in Washington, D. C., of a silver dollar dated 1928 to be included with the contents of the cornerstone. Martin Egan, secretary of Tammany Hall, had asked the Guaranty Trust Company to supply the silver dollar. The Guaranty had none of the 1928 coinage and applied to the Federal Reserve Bank, which was also just out of silver dollars of that date. The Trust Company then wired an application to the Secretary of the Treasury in Washington, and the dollar was sent direct from the mint, accompanied by the information that silver dollars of 1928 coinage are to be used exclusively for cornerstone laying and other dedicatory purposes." — The Numismatist, February 1929.

Did Nero Fiddle While Rome Burned?

by Paul F. Rynearson

ANA 59331

The coins illustrated on the left are two asses of Nero. The first is a copper as, Cohen 355v, and the second, an as of orichalcum, Cohen 248. The coins' reverses both portray Nero as Apollo playing the lyre. Before we attempt to answer the question, using the ancient histories and numismatic memorials left to us by the Romans, let us first review the details of this awesome catastrophe.

On a warm and windy night in July, 64 A.D., a fire broke out destroying ten of the fourteen districts of Rome. This holocaust lasted six days and seven nights, killing people and ravaging monuments, homes, and all things dear to the hearts of the populace.

The emperor Nero was one of the most cruel and debauched emperors of Rome; we all know his infamous acts well. Was he really to blame for this catastrophe? Nero voiced his desire on many occasions to completely rebuild Rome, to fill her with statues of Nero, shrines to Nero, everything to heighten his crazed sense of grandeur. Most likely, poets and many historians of the time associated the emperor's name with the fire in order to substitute a more exciting reason for the actual cause, and also to destroy Nero's popularity with the lower classes. They represent the emperor as standing in a tower overlooking the raging fire, and calmly composing verses while accompanying himself on the lyre.

A more reliable account is given by Tacitus, who relates the fact that Nero, at the onset of the fire, was distant, and, on reaching the city limits, directed the populace in attempting to control the blaze. In fact, at his arrival, his own palace had been razed by the fire.

These two coins were issued between 64 and 66 A.D., most probably after the Great Fire of 64 A.D. It seems doubtful that Nero, or any other emperor for that matter, would allow coins to be struck with a type symbolic of the rumors concerning his starting of the fire, if he had actually been responsible. These coins, then, reaffirm the probability that the fire was started in some oil warehouses, and that the windy, hot air carried the blaze quickly and forcefully.

The copper as, number one, is without the traditional SC, which indicates the Roman Senate's control over the bronze issues. This piece could have been intended for a pattern or special purpose, while the orichalcum as (a mixture of four parts copper and one part zinc) displays SC prominently in the reverse field. The radiate bust on the orichalcum piece usually signifies the dupondius, a denomination equal to two asses. This piece, however, has the weight of the as.

In conclusion it might be said that numismatics has a very great role to play in sorting out the difficulties and variances in legends and histories. Coins are reflections of the times and the societies which mint them, and, therefore, are memorials struck usually without prejudice, and in the case of Roman coins, flattery. The portraits are almost always very realistic, and, in fact, the best or only likeness left to us of some emperors. While Nero blamed the Christians, the poets accused the emperor, but the probable cause was natural, representing one of those circumstantial and tragic moments in history.

BOOK REVIEWS

The practice of "reviewing" . . . in general has nothing in common with the art of criticism. — Henry James, 1893.

Second Time Around

CURRENT COINS OF THE WORLD by R. S. Yeoman. 2nd edition, 1968. Hard cover. 256 pages. Illustrated. Western Publishing Co., Whitman Hobby Div., Racine, Wisc. $2.50.

Second editions of books of a catalogue type are usually important in that errors in printing the first edition are corrected. There seems to have been unusually few such changes required in this second edition, but the changing picture of world governments and the caprice of collectors called for revisions in this two-year-old catalogue. Without any claim of exactitude, a check of the new index showed sixteen listings added and four dropped as compared to the first edition. Quite a few countries have new issues; Israel, for example, added four entirely new coins.

In general, the book lists and prices issues made from about 1940 to date and illustrates the different types. It follows the form of the first edition, making comparisons between the two quite simple. In a few cases coin identifying numbers have been changed but the old numbers are shown in brackets. Price changes, presumably the consensus of a large panel of contributors, are many but for the most part not drastic. Apparently better information on supply and demand led to some reductions in prices, of which all collectors should be aware. For example, the Colombia peso of 1956 dropped from $20 to $10; and eight coins of Czechoslovakia dropped an average of 20%, even though the grading of three was raised from VF to XF. But there were advances also, such as: 1962 5 kronor of Sweden, $5 to $10; and the undated 5 shokang (no. 32) of Tibet, $3.50 to $12.50.

The attractive volume has a durable library binding printed with a colorful design. It is available from most coin dealers at $2.50. — Glenn S.

Paper Primer

STANDARD HANDBOOK OF MODERN U.S. PAPER MONEY by Leon J. Goodman, Jr., John L. Schwartz and Chuck O'Donnell. Soft cover. 54 pages. Illustrated. Fleetwood Letter Service. $1.00.

This handbook was designed by the authors to aid collectors of small size paper money and lists for the first time all blocks on $1, $2, $5, $10 silver certificates and U. S. notes and their prices.

It also lists all mules known on the same notes and their values, and all star notes known and their values. A handy check list is included at the back of the book for known block number ranges and for serial number ranges.

Each listing includes serial number, plate serials, signatures, estimated prices and total blocks known. The total quantity printed also is given when known.

The authors point out that in pricing the notes they chose just two grades, VG-F and crisp unc., as they felt they are the two most common grades collected. Prices were arrived at only after much discussion as to relative scarcity and the study of many advertisements. In future editions they expect to make changes up or down as necessity demands.

The illustrations are sharp and clear. In the introduction the authors define a number of terms relating to paper money which are highly beneficial to the beginning collector as well as a handy reference for the more seasoned collector. It includes the terms used in describing a note and also explains grading, star notes, mules, the difference between wide and narrow margins, serial and plate serial numbers.

A must for any paper currency collector, especially the beginner, this book is available by writing directly to the authors, Leon J. Goodman, Jr., Box 388, Cooper Station, New York, N. Y. — M. Walt.

From the End Back!

A START TO COIN COLLECTING — ENGLISH COINS — ELIZABETH II TO CHARLES II by Margaret Amstell. Hard cover. 78 pages. Illustrated. W. Foulsham Co., Ltd., London, England. $1.92 U.S.

The author devotes an interesting chapter to each monarch of Great Britain, from Charles II to Elizabeth II, thus covering the entire period of English milled coinage. Miss Amstell relates a bit of each ruler's character and history to his coins and his designs. A treasury of interesting fact, material generally not found in a coin catalogue whets the appetite of the collector of the British series and makes interesting reading for the collector and non-collector alike.

Although profusely illustrated, it is not a coin catalogue and no listings of dates or types can be found. However, it is an interesting complement to such existing catalogues on the coinage of Great Britain as those authored by Seaby, Bressett, Friedberg, Linecar, or James.

The collector may order from L. A. Kaitcher Ltd., 89 Dublin Road, Belfast 2, Northern Ireland. $1.92 US. — J. Remick.

A Write-It Yourself Book!

THE ERROR RECORDER by Fred E. Boughton. Card cover, pre-punched and scored. 26 pages. Illustrated. Penny Products, Homer Rd., Winona, Minn. 55987. $1.00.

Here's a book that you can't read without a pencil.

Ideal for every would-be author? Not quite, but it is ideal for the collector of Lincoln cent oddities and errors. After all, what they collect usually isn't recorded, so author Fred Boughton prepared the ideal catalogue — line drawings of Lincoln cents and the collector draws in his own "mistakes." It offers one of the few opportunities for a collector to possess every coin listed in a catalogue.

Broken down into six tongue-in-cheek chapters, the book is most useful to the serious collector of "freaks." It can also be a lot of fun for the serious student of numismatics who would like to interject a few lighter moments into his hobby.

For a dollar where can you buy fun today?

Boughton provides his "readers" the opportunity to record the minutest blob, to show rotated dies to the exact degree, and to color code his entries. The drawings are greatly enlarged and so are the legends. For example LIBERTY is big enough to permit B.I.E. and related errors to be drawn in.

This do-it-yourself book kit consists of 20 Memorial or Wheat type error recorder pages, a hardboard cover with color code, also prepunched and scored as to pop out if desired, plus two extra pages of color codes for mailing, and a page of complete instructions and suggestions for many diversified uses. Color me blue, the coins aren't included. — ECR.

Library Donations Continue

Like the political bandwagons that are starting to roll around the country, numismatists are climbing on one all their own, and one that is really picking up steam—the ANA Library bandwagon. Donations of books, auction catalogues and numismatic periodicals are being donated in such volume and frequency that additional help will be added in the library during the summer months. As mentioned before, donations to the library are tax deductible and all donors receive an official receipt and are acknowledged in these columns.

The following gave books which were added this month to the ever growing library list: Ray Elwood, Admiral O. H. FEATURING FAKES

VIRGIL HANCOCK, ANA 43616

© 1968 by Virgil Hancock

Costa Rica's tiny, silver cuartillos (Craig 75/1, the 11mm diameter, $\frac{1}{4}$ real coins of 1845, minted when Costa Rica still nominally was one of the states of the "Republic of The Center of America") are fairly scarce . . . but their counterfeits aren't, although the fakes bring a good price when passed off as genuine.

Pictured above, courtesy Whitman Numismatic Journal, are six cuartillos, only one (the holed coin) being genuine. The other five are cast counterfeits, some slightly light in silver. All five counterfeits were bought in Costa Rica in 1967 by a trusting norteamericano.

Depending upon the counterfeiting process used, counterfeit coins cast from the identical original coin do not always have the same tell-tale "symptoms" of casting. Since it isn't my intent to educate the thieves in how to improve their product, I shan't explain the "why" of such differences, but shall show, at the bottom of this page, enlargements of four of the above counterfeits, although they not necessarily were cast from the same original.

And, at top of next page, you'll see another cast specimen, sold in this country, and its obverse and reverse greatly enlarged, with directing arrows.

The arrows point to Symptoms Nos. 2, 3, 5 (see May '68 The Numismatist, pages 586-8) . . . "pimples" on field, "build-up" or accumulation of metal between sun rays, angle of field and letters, date, and fine sandpaper texture here and there on the field.

Another cast counterfeit from Costa Rica is the following pictured 1848 gold 14mm $\frac{1}{2}$ escudo of the Republic of The Center of America (Craig 75/6), minted in San Jose, Costa Rica, and then countermarked with a lion within a 5mm circle to legalize the coin for independent Costa Rica, as well as to discourage counterfeiting by the thieves who in those days were less skilled than their descendants who today are unloading these fakes on collectors. The legend surrounding the lion on the countermark reads "HABILITADA POR EL GOBIERNO" which translates "Qualified by The Government." The letters of that countermark legend were so extremely tiny that the casting techniques used by counterfeiters over a century ago couldn't reproduce the legend sufficiently clearly.

Holland Wallace (of Whitman's, and author of Central American Coinage Since 1821) suggests that the genuine of this countermarked coin should be listed as Craig 76/20. Below, to your left, this fake's obverse and reverse are shown, also enlarged.

Nor was it beneath the dignity of the Costa Rica counterfeiters to dabble in copper casting of counterfeit coins. The two specimens you see to your extreme right, immediately above, are counterfeits of the 1865 (no date appears on the coin) copper $\frac{1}{4}$ centavo, 12.2mm diameter, VII Yeoman 120/32.

You'll see, below, those two counterfeits enlarged.

Mint to Accept Orders for Uncirculated Sets Starting July 15th

The mint has just announced that, after a period of three years, uncirculated coin sets will again be made available for collectors beginning with the 1968 sets. These are not the special mint sets. They have been discontinued.

Uncirculated coin sets contain pieces manufactured for general circulation purposes. The best uncirculated coins are used in the sets. The mint cannot guarantee to furnish coins entirely free of blemishes. Each set consists of a 50¢, 25¢, 10¢, 5¢ and 1¢ piece from the Denver Mint, a 25¢, 10¢ and 1¢ piece from the Philadelphia Mint, and a 5¢ and 1¢ piece from the U. S. Assay Office at San Francisco.

The price of $2.50 per set includes first class registered mail fee. The maximum number of sets per order is 20 sets. Requests for uncirculated coins should be directed to the Officer in Charge, United States Assay Office, Numismatic Service, 350 Duboce Avenue, San Francisco, California 94102, and should be accompanied by remittance in full in the form of a U. S. Postal Money Order, or check made payable to the Officer in Charge, U. S. Assay Office, San Francisco, California. Do not send cash.

Acceptance of all orders is contingent upon the mint's ability to meet the unpredictable demand. If the demand exceeds the supply, a cut-off date will be established, beyond which all orders will be returned. Orders are accepted commencing

July 15 of each year; they are processed in sequence according to date of receipt, and filled as soon as possible after receiving the order. Any orders received prior to July 15 must necessarily be returned to the sender. However, the sender's name and address will be placed on the mailing list and he will receive a pre-punched order card before July 15.

Once you have ordered coin sets from the Assay Office, you will automatically receive order forms for the following year's coin sets issued by the Bureau of the Mint.

Receipt of any order and payment will not constitute an acceptance of any order. Payments accompanying orders will be deposited in the Treasury for safekeeping only, pending acceptance of any order, or refund of the payment. Uncirculated coin orders are not subject to cancellation by the purchaser.

The U. S. Assay Office reserves the right to reduce or cancel any order, irrespective of whether or not it has been acknowledged. In the event of a reduction or cancellation, appropriate refund will be made.

Only those coins currently being manufactured for circulation are included in the uncirculated sets. Silver dollars have not been coined since 1935.

Uncirculated coins manufactured in prior years are not available at the mint. Back issues are usually obtained from dealers or collectors at prices determined by them.

The Token Collector's Page

by Melvin Fuld, ANA 11932

The search for information concerning the unclassified or "maverick" token is the stimulus that drives the exonumist on to countless hours of research, writing of letters, and pouring over old phone books and city directories to help one another attribute one more token. The sole reward is knowing that one has helped catalogue one more piece, one more token taken from the "unclassified" lists to a known location and period of time. This reward is rich in satisfaction and the search was recreation in itself.

This month, the Token Collector's Page, offers you a challenge and a chance to help. All the tokens presented are mavericks, unclassified.

Reverse: * POLAND • STREET • ACADEMY; in field, ACCESSIT.

Metal: silver. Size: 12½(20mm). Border: no. 1; edge, no. 1. Issued: date unknown. Rarity: number issued unknown.

A reader and correspondent of "The Token Collector's Page" sent this very well executed silver piece. The purpose of the piece is unknown. It may be a pass for expectant mothers to receive treatment at the Poland Street Academy or a medalette given to those attending prenatal care. It was thought to be an English token but was not found in the writer's reference books.

While a line drawing is shown on page 86, The Numismatist, April 1899, Wright makes no mention of its size or metal. He states, "Occurs in sets. V. Rare." TWO TALES

A Difference of Opinion—Clarified

by John Capozzolo, ANA 46831

In the May issue of The Numismatist a question was raised by Robert Hickman as to the correct attribution of a Roman aes piece he recently acquired. Hickman consulted three sources and received two answers as to the issuing authority of the piece; Julius Caesar and Augustus. Herein I will attempt to clear up the confusion in regards to the references quoted, then analyze the piece and give its correct attribution.

The three references quoted are as follows:

1) Roman Coins and Their Values by David R. Sears, 1964, Seaby Numismatic Publications. Coin listed under Caesar. In this excellent handbook we find that Sears uses Cohens¹ system of arrangement whereby restored and memorial coins are listed under the emperor being honored and in certain cases, as the case in point, coins are listed jointly as Julius Caesar and Augustus or Claudius and Nero². This system can lead to some confusion as to the issuing authority. However, in most cases the legend and titles on the coin put it in its proper place, as for example the use of PRINC. IVVENT. for the heir to the throne or DIVOS for a deified emperor.

2) Seaby's Coin and Medal Bulletin, December 1965. Coin noted as struck by Augustus. In this case the coin in question was displayed on the cover of the bulletin with an accompanying article. The information in the story was correct but not explicit as to the attribution. However, in many cases the coin featured on the bulletin's cover is offered for sale in the sales catalogue section and one can find all the correct attributions here.

3) Selections from The Numismatist, Ancient and Medieval Coins, an article by Sigmund Krausz, "Interesting Records on Roman Coins," page 69. Coin attributed to Julius Caesar. This last case, it is sad to say, is a classic case of an error being perpetuated in a learned journal. The title of the book itself conveys authority; that this error could be reprinted without correction or at least a note of correction speaks sadly of the editors. Apparently, Krausz fitted the coin to his story not history to the coin. Errors of this sort cause many needless debates,

OF A COIN

Caesar's Heir

by Robert J. Myers, ANA 35882

On the Ides of March, 44 BC, Julius Caesar was assassinated. Thus began one of the most politically intriguing periods in history—the Roman revolution. Two years after Caesar's murder, Brutus and Cassius were defeated in battle by Mark Antony and Octavian. The two assassins of Caesar then took their own lives and left Antony and Octavian to compete for the control of the Roman world. Mark Antony was defeated in 31 BC by Octavian at the battle of Actium and the last challenge-of-power for the great-nephew of Julius Caesar was eliminated.

The thirteen years of war and political maneuvering that followed are not too well documented, and a great deal of the history has come to us through the examination of coins. The coin illustrated is an excellent example of the political propaganda used by Octavian. In 43 BC, Julius Caesar was placed among the gods by the Roman senate. He was the first, but certainly not the last, of the Roman rulers so deified. His name, as well as his deeds, was to live forever. Caesar in his will adopted his twenty-year-old great-nephew into the Julian House. By being made his legal son, Octavian became heir to Rome. Born Caius Octavius Thurinus, he became Caius Julius Caesar Octavianus, and the name of Caesar was to be his fortune. In the struggle for power which followed Caesar's murder, Octavian called on the Roman people often, and always in the name of Caesar.

The obverse of the coin shows the bare head of Octavian facing right and the inscription CAESAR DIVI F. The inscription, transliterated, means Son of the Divine Julius. The F is an abbreviation for filius (son) and was commonly used on Imperial coins of Rome for more than three centuries. The reverse has a laureate head of Julius Caesar and the inscription DIVOS JULIUS, the Divine (here meaning deified, i.e., in the past tense) Julius. The inference to the relationship of Octavian and Julius Caesar is obvious to us, as it must have been to the Roman people when the coin was issued.

By his study of coin finds and stylistic relationships, Michael Grant has dated this issue to the summer of 37 BC. It closely resembles other as the case in point.

Now, let us analyze the piece and give its correct attribution.

The correct obverse of this coin (Hickman calls the obverse the reverse³) shows the bare, slightly bearded, head of Octavian right, with the legend CAESAR before and DIVI. F. behind. The first point to note is the presence of the beard, Octavian who made his bid for power at a very early age, being only 19 at Caesar's death, was a wily politician and used whatever propaganda available to convey the image of maturity to the Roman people. As the bearded portrait does not appear on Augustus' imperial coinage⁴, which was started in 27 BC, but is used extensively on Octavian's imperitorial coins, this piece must have been struck sometime between 44 BC and 27 BC. The legend CAESAR DIVI. F. (Caesar, son of the God [Julius].) is another propaganda tactic used extensively by Octavian to show his close relationship to his adopted father, Julius Caesar, and since this legend was first used about 37 BC, well after the assassination of Caesar, it could not have been struck by Caesar.

The reverse shows the laureate head of Julius Caesar right, and the legend DIVOS before and IVLIVS behind. The legend alone rules out the piece being struck by Julius Caesar as it is well documented that Caesar's apotheosis did not take place until after his death. Anyone familiar with Roman conservatism would realize that this legend would not likely appear on the coins of a living man, even the mad Caligula who had himself deified during his lifetime did not use the title God on his coins.

The correct attribution of the coin is found in E. A. Sydenham's, The Roman Republican Coinage, as number 1335. Here it is listed as being struck under Octavian in 37 BC probably at Puteoli, Italy, although it has been held by some to be struck at Lugdunum (Lyons). Stevenson in his Dictionary of Roman Coins also mentions this piece as being struck by Augustus (Octavian) but does not give a mint place. Mattingly in Roman Coins states that Octavian's Gallic coins celebrate his deified father. He also states that issues struck in honor of deified emperors were usually struck under the successor and thus are easy to date, however, there are numerous exceptions to this. In Cohen this coin is number 3 under Julius Caesar and Augustus.

1. Cohen, H., Monnaies Frappees sous l'Empire Romain. 8 vols.
2. In Cohen the first name of a joint coinage is not necessarily the issuing authority.
3. The obverse being the side having the portrait of the person responsible for the striking of the coin.
4. The British Museum Catalogue of Roman Coins, Vol. 1 does not have a single case of Augustus with a beard.

Caesar's Heir

coins of Italian mints; Grant believes that this piece was minted in Italy. There can be no doubt that the coin was minted by Octavian between 43 BC and 27 BC. Julius is deified on the coin as stated in the inscription and as indicated by the laureate head. In 27 BC Octavian became Augustus, a name which was to appear on all of his coins thereafter.

The illustrated coin was struck in bronze but similar obverses and reverses are found separately on silver coins of this period. The weight and size of the coin varies from 373 to 209 grains, and from Sestertius to As dimensions. There is no distinction of type, and the weights show a complete gradation so the denomination of the coin cannot be definitely assigned.

Why many early numismatists attributed this series to Julius Caesar or to a joint issue of Caesar and Octavian is puzzling. The inscription on the "Julius" side clearly stated that he was dead. However since Octavian was not yet master of Rome, this and many other coins of this period cannot be assigned to any one individual. In many cases we do, however, know who was responsible for their striking and for coins like this one, we know why!

The coins of Octavian were used for his political ambition as well as for Roman bread.

ANA Forming Advisory Council

President Arthur Sipe has taken steps to set-up a council of former ANA presidents and governors to serve in an advisory and counseling capacity to the board of governors. Immediate past president Matt Rothert has been appointed chairman of the new council, which plans to hold its first meeting during the association's San Diego convention, August 20-24.

The suggestion has been made several times in recent years, says President Sipe, that the association take advantage of the accumulated experience and knowledge of its former board members in dealing with current problems. The council will offer suggestions and opinions on such matters as it deems pertinent, as well as on questions submitted to it by the board.

Chairman Rothert is making specific plans for the council's initial meeting during the San Diego convention and will issue individual invitations to past officers to attend. According to the association's records, its living past presidents, listed in alphabetical order, are: P. K. Anderson, V. Leon Belt, O. H. Dodson, J. Douglas Ferguson, Loyd B. Gettys, J. Hewitt Judd, Martin F. Kortjohn, Matt H. Rothert, M. Vernon Sheldon and C. C. Shroyer.

Living former governors, not including those currently on the board, are: George L. Andrews, Harold H. Berk, Harry X Boosel, Vernon L. Brown, Ray Byrne, Victor B. Chambers, Ralph F. Cleaver, James W. Curtis, Damon G. Douglas, Harley L. Freeman, Edward A. Gilroy, Harold R. Klein, Robert H. Lloyd, Robert G. McArthur, Ralph A. Mitchell, John H. Morris, Jr., Christian M. Petersen, William A. Philpott, Jr., June T. (Mrs. Shepard) Pond, Charles L. Ruby, C. H. Ryan, George M. Todd and Richard S. Yeoman.

It is hoped that most, if not all, of these former elected officers plan to be at the August convention. Each will, says Rothert, receive an invitation to attend the council meeting, with the date, time and location in the hotel being specified in it.

Consecration of Saint Vartan's Cathedral

One of the first Armenian medals issued in the U.S. has been struck to mark the consecration of the new Saint Vartan's Cathedral in New York City. Struck by Medallic Art Company and sculptured by John Hovannes, of Armenian descent, it will be available in two sizes—dollar sized silver and 2½" bronze and in two versions, Armenian and English. The obverse is a representation of the cathedral while the reverse shows the profiles of St. Vartan and St. Mesrob, two revered saints. The former was the military leader who fought and fell in the battle of Avarair (451 AD) against the Persians in defense of the Christian faith. Medals are available at the cathedral or through Hans Schulman of New York.

Dedication of Catholic War Veterans Building

A 2½" bronze medal bearing a rendition of their new national headquarters building in Washington has been struck by Medallic Art Company. The occasion is the dedication of this new facility named after the founder of CWV, Monsignor Edward Higgins. Built in 1922 and purchased by the organization in 1965, it was dedicated in August 1967. Founded in 1935, CWV is dedicated to promote the welfare of all veterans. The medal was designed by sculptor Patrick Whitaker and is available from the headquarters, 2 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20001 for $6 each, postpaid.

The largest Protestant church was formed recently in Dallas when the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church combined to form the United Methodist Church. Struck in bronze, in two sizes 76mm and 39mm, by the Franklin Mint, 1,000 of the large and 5,000 of the 39mm, the medals were placed on sale at the conference after 100 of the larger were presented to bishops and other church dignitaries.

1968 Convention Medal A Veritable Textbook of History

The official medal for the ANA 1968 convention, to be held in San Diego, California, takes as its theme, "San Diego — First on Land, Sea, and in the Air." The medal contrasts on its obverse and reverse old and new San Diego. The year of the 77th Anniversary Convention, 1968, falls between two important dates in the history of San Diego. The year 1967 marked the 425th anniversary of Cabrillo's discovery of San Diego Bay in 1542, while the year 1969 marks the 200th anniversary of the founding of San Diego by Fray Junipero Serra, who established the first of the California missions here in 1769. The official convention medal takes notice of these two important events which, with the addition of a landmark occasion in aviation history, provides the theme of the medal.

The lower portion of the medal's obverse design pictures the San Salvador, flagship of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, as it rounded Point Loma on its way into San Diego Bay in 1542. Landing on Ballast Point at the base of Point Loma, Cabrillo claimed the land for Spain and named the natural harbor Bahia de San Miguel. San Diego received its present name from a later explorer, Viscaino, but San Miguel is retained as the name of a mountain visible on the horizon east of San Diego.

The upper left hand portion of the obverse pictures Mission San Diego de Alcala. Fray Junipero Serra founded the first mission in San Diego on what is today known as Presidio Hill, occupied today by a city park and historical museum. This hill was also the site of the Royal Presidio of San Diego. In 1777, the mission site was moved to the north side of Mission Valley a few miles upstream from the original site, so that the mission work would be farther removed from the secular influences of the presidio, and closer to the Indians among whom the missionary activities were carried on. At this site, the present mission building was constructed. It is this mission which is pictured on the official convention medal.

In 1883, John J. Montgomery piloted his small glider in the first controlled heavier-than-air flight in aviation history. This historic event took place on a windy hillside south of San Diego, now preserved as a public park in the city of Chula Vista. Montgomery's name is preserved in the name of this park dedicated to his pioneer flight, and in the name of Montgomery Field on San Diego's Kearny Mesa. The upper right hand portion of the medal's obverse design is dedicated to this pioneering aviation event, with a depiction of Montgomery in his first glider.

On the reverse of the medal, the theme is carried into modern times. To the left, an aircraft carrier is depicted to symbolize the importance of San Diego Harbor as the major port for the Navy's Pacific Fleet. San Diego is one of the Navy's most important bases, and the Naval Training Center is located on Harbor Drive near the new International Airport.

To the right on the medal's reverse is a representation of San Diego's modern and dynamic skyline. Within the last few years a number of magnificent high rise buildings have been constructed in downtown San Diego to stand as witnesses to San Diego's importance on land as well as on the sea and in the air.

In the center of the reverse of the official medal is the Atlas missile, built by the Astronautics Division of General Dynamics in San Diego. For years the Atlas missile served in the first line of defense for the United States, and it continues to play an important role in American space research. Aviation and Aerospace industry have long played important roles in San Diego's development. It was here that Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis was built, and that company's successor, Ryan, today builds such aircraft as the Firebee target drone used in aerial weaponry training by our armed forces. Convair, well known in World War II for its production of the B-24 Liberator bomber, and later for the F-102 and F-106 delta wing fighter planes, continues to play an important role in San Diego industry as a leader in aircraft research and development.

The size and octagonal shape of the medal is modeled after a well-known shape in California numismatic history. Both the $50 gold ingots issued by U. S. Assayer Augustus Humbert in 1851 and 1852, and the U. S. $50 gold piece issued to commemorate the Panama Pacific Exposition in 1915 were struck in this unusual shape. This shape was chosen for the official medal to commemorate these significant issues in California numismatics.

Superimposed on the reverse design of the official convention medal is the Lamp of Knowledge, official emblem of the American Numismatics Association, symbolizing the role which our association plays in the field of numismatic education and knowledge. With an outstanding publication, The Numismatist, and an active program of numismatic education, the American Numismatic Association is one of the world's most progressive numismatic organizations. It celebrates its 77th anniversary this year—a dynamic association in a dynamic city. San Diego is truly a "City in Motion," a theme also expressed on the official medal. The official convention medal commemorates the ANA's choice of this city as its 77th anniversary convention site with a theme expressive of San Diego's historical past and promising future as a city "First—on Land, Sea, and in the Air."

The medal is being struck by Medallion Art Company of New York, and the models were prepared by John Worthington from designs submitted by a committee consisting of L. T. Gottschall, Ken Hedges, Mrs. Sally Vorbou and Mrs. Pat Gutowski.

Worthington, a product designer and sculptor for the plastics industry has prepared a number of medals for Medallion Art but is perhaps best known for his portrait sculptures of the great football heroes elected to the National Professional Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

Charles K. Lyle addressing the Club Representatives' Breakfast at the Miami convention in 1967.

A Salute to Charles

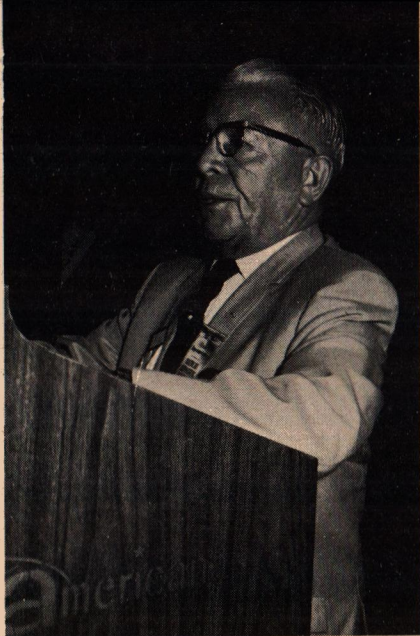

Over the past few months we have saluted the juniors who through their examples have set a guide for other youngsters to follow, but let us this month grant recognition to a much older youngster who, through his fire and untiring efforts, has given much of the impetus that has kept the Youth Program of the American Numismatic Association forging ahead.

This month we salute a 64-year old youngster at heart, Charles K. Lyle, formerly of Lathrup Village, Michigan but more recently of Vero Beach, Florida.

Although just recovering from a heart attack, Charles Lyle addressed the Club Representatives' Breakfast at the 1967 convention with such vim and vigor, with such stirring oratory, that those in attendance went back to their respective clubs vowing to promote a most active youth program. The records attest to the success of Lyle's address. For the benefit of those unable to attend that meeting and thus unable to pass such wisdom on to their clubs, his talk is reprinted here.

"We are gathered here not for the honors we can acquire, but for the groundwork we can acquire for the future of youth in numismatics. On your return to your city, village or hamlet, encourage your coin club to start a youth movement. This means that the future of your club, also the expansion of ANA.

"Youth must be served. You as senior members can be helpful to your country and community by contacting Mrs. Hazel Lindstrom of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, or the national headquarters in Colorado Springs. Better yet, leave the name and address to whom we may write to get your club off the ground. The sooner we get the youth movement in numismatics started in every state, the sooner we will help the unrest that plagues our nation. It will prove highly effective in diverting youth from wasting their talents in delinquency, flirting with narcotics, shooting out lights, turning over cars, breaking up furniture and screaming for thrills.

"We need people, especially those who are closely attuned to the interests, wishes and activities of youth. We will all benefit—youth, coin dealers, coin clubs and coin publications, by helping children grow in basic skills and knowledge, in higher ideals and worthy ways of living. Make no mistake, youth is the world's most important people."

It was in Michigan that Charles K.

Lyle began his work with the younger set. Last year, for example, working with the Youth Program of the Michigan State Numismatic Society at the Youth Center in Dearborn, it was his program that saw that all juniors exhibiting and not receiving a trophy, were given membership in ANA or a subscription to the numismatic publication of their choice. He helped ease the judging rules to see that all juniors were given an equal chance with 40 points on numismatic information, 40 on eye appeal, and 20 on originality. Completeness, condition, rarity and values were eliminated.

Lyle helped start a literary program among the juniors of MSNS, too, and the financial report on their youth program is just one more indication of the drive and influence that he has.

So for the adults who read this column, let us say that there is a man you can well emulate; for the juniors, let us just say, "Thanks, Mr. Lyle."

A Board Break Error on Currency

by Harry M. Coleman, ANA 53009

A St. Louis hotel cashier, with a long memory and an inclination to look back, has found what apparently is an unusual type of printing error in U.S. paper money. She remembered the comments, made several years ago by a visiting paper money collector, to "watch her money." When he returned, recently, she showed him what she had found.

The error appears on the reverse of 20 consecutive \$1.00 St. Louis, Federal Reserve Notes, 1963 series. It consists of a jagged, peg-like streak, extending approximately $1\frac{1}{16}$ inches at the base of the upper right numeral 1. Several irregular white blotches also appear across the right wing of the eagle in the seal.

This type of error is usually caused either by a defect in the paper, or by an obstruction between the paper and the printing plate. This particular error was caused by a breakdown during the printing process.

After examination of one of the 20 known existing copies, the following report was made by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing:

"The defect in the printing on the back was caused by a 'board break.' The impression cylinders of our presses have what is referred to as a 'rigging' consisting of sheets of strong heavy fiberboard covered with a rubber-coated textile 'draw-sheet.' The boards deteriorate under the extreme pressures of intaglio printing and sometimes break so that inadequate pressure is applied to certain areas. A number of sheets may be printed having similar defects in the same location before the defect is discovered."

The tendency of the average cashier or teller to note currency defects only on the front, makes the present discovery of the 20 notes in uncirculated condition all the more unusual. It is generally accepted that there are far more errors on the front of a bill than on the back. Since the front undergoes at least two printing impressions, as against one for the back, the percentage favors this. What percentage of irregular currency reaches circulation is undeterminable. The only current information on percentage of star or replacement notes is summarized in a recent communication from BEP which states, "... our spoilage rate has dropped to half of what it was a few years ago and is now averaging about 4.0%."

LATE WORLD IN NEWS

UNITED STATES

Silver Lining Fast Disappearing

The Treasury Department recently published procedures governing the exchange of silver certificates for silver bullion during the remaining period of exchangeability, which ends June 24, 1968.

After that date, silver certificates will continue to be usable as legal currency, but may not be redeemed for silver.

The exchange procedures, published in the Federal Register, are essentially the ones that Treasury has followed since it began in March, 1964, to redeem silver certificates with silver bullion rather than silver dollars, as authorized by law. The Department now has simply formalized the procedures to insure orderly transactions during the remainder of the exchange period.

To obtain silver bullion in exchange for silver certificates, a holder of certificates must present them in person at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York or San Francisco or at the United States Assay Office in New York or San Francisco. In the case of certificates presented to the two Federal Reserve Banks, the holders receive receipts which may be exchanged for silver bullion at the assay offices.

In its notice in the Federal Register, Treasury urged holders of certificates who wanted to redeem them for silver bullion to do so promptly, since the exchange period is now nearing an end. The Department also pointed out that the two Federal Reserve Banks and two Assay Offices will make exchanges only during normal working hours, and said that if many holders wait until just before the June 24 deadline the exchange facilities may not be able to handle all requests.

CANADA

Collectors' Summary

The Sherritt Mint, operated by Sherritt Gordon Mines, Ltd., has just prepared a colorful illustrated summary of the yearly production of nickel coinage blanks and medallions. Starting in 1961 with a first order from the Royal Canadian Mint, the company's coinage activity moved into the export field in 1964, the minting of medallions in 1966 and striking coins for export orders in 1968. Dimensions and quantities are recorded for each item produced and many are illustrated in the four folders which make up the summary.

While it was prepared for the company's overseas coinage customers, the summary will be of much interest to collectors. Since the record includes several trial pieces, it is probably impossible to assemble a collection of every item, but the pure nickel coins and medallions should be readily available.

The summary can be obtained by sending $1.00 to The Sheritt Mint, Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta, attention Mr. K. T. Horn.

EAST GERMANY

Beneath the Iron Curtain

Numismatics knows no political boundaries, so on the occasion of the 750th anniversary of the granting of city-rights to Rostock and of the 550th anniversary of Rostock University, the German (East) Cultural Organization in Rostock will hold the Second International Numismatic Exposition. The area covered will include the Baltic countries, Norway, Iceland, former Hanseatic cities and partner-cities. No restrictions are contemplated subjectwise, but no displays, sale or trading of items depicting Nazi emblems, anti-humanitarian or indecent subjects or descriptions will be allowed.

Connected with the exposition will be an international numismatic conference with interested fellow-collectors and officials from museums and numismatic institutions participating.

On display will be coins, medals, currency, numismatic photographs, and slides. There will also be on exhibit displays from various government coin cabinets, one from the East German State Mint of Berlin, from the State Chinaworks of Meissen, and from several museums. There will also be an exhibit of seals, wax-seals and numismatic museums.

During the course of the exposition, scheduled from July 6 through 14, will be a collectors' bourse and an international trading bourse. The striking of silver and bronze commemoratives for the event of the anniversaries is planned. They will be from hand cut dies and struck at the Berlin mint from designs of Erich Kaufman of Rostock. A catalogue describing the exhibits and listing the items on display is also under preparation reports Matthew J. van der Voort from Europe.

ISRAEL

Oversubscribed

The government of Israel's Jerusalem coin, issued May 2 to commemorate the state's 20th Anniversary of Independence, met with an overwhelming demand throughout the world, according to Joseph Milo, assistant trade commissioner, Government of Israel.

The Jerusalem coin is legal tender with a face value of IL 10 in silver and IL 100 in gold. The obverse of the coin shows its face value and a replica of the ancient Bar Kochba silver "sela" that features a four-columned facade of the Temple of Solomon. The reverse features a schematic panorama of the reunified city of Jerusalem.

Distribution of the coins was coordinated by the Israel Government Coins and Medals Corporation, the only official organization for worldwide distribution of Israel's coins and state medals.

PANAMA

1968 Panama Proof Set Orders Now Being Accepted

The Republic of Panama announced that orders are now being accepted for 1968 Panama Proof Sets. Each set will consist of one balboa, one half-balboa, one quarter-balboa, one tenth-balboa, one five-centesimo, and one centesimo. The crown size one balboa will be 90% silver content. The alloy of the other coins will be the same as that of U. S. coins in comparable denominations. A long-standing treaty provides that Panama coins and U. S. coins will be similar in content, denomination, size, and equal in value. Each set will be packaged similar to U. S. Mint standards.

The price of $15.25 per set is the official government price. The government announced there is a strict limit of 25 sets for each customer.

The Republic of Panama joined the United States and Canada as the third country in the Western Hemisphere to issue coin sets on a yearly basis commencing 1966. The quantity struck in 1966 was limited to the number of sets ordered during the authorized order-taking period. There were 12,701 sets minted. The popularity of these sets was immediate and there was a heavy collector demand shortly after the sets were delivered to the original purchasers. Today many dealers are advertising the 1966 Panama Proof Sets in various publications for $40.00 per set.

Orders were accepted for 1967 Panama Proof Sets during an authorized order-taking period between August 15 and October 31, 1967. The quantity produced was limited to the number sold during the order-taking period. The total issue of the 1967 sets is 19,983 sets.

A spokesman for the government of Panama indicated that orders for

The 1968 Panama proof set will include the one balboa, dollar-sized coin, which is 90 percent silver. This is one of the few remaining silver crowns issued throughout the world.

1968 sets will be accepted until July 31, 1968 or until mint capacity is reached, whichever comes sooner. He also indicated that all orders should be placed with Paramount International Coin Corporation who is the authorized exclusive agent for the government.

Credit Cards Collectible

While credit cards may never find their way into the coin cabinets of a collector, there are those who are interested in these little plastic charge plates. So interested, in fact, that a black market exists in credit cards according to a recent release by the Association Institute.

Next to folding money, pickpockets and sneak thieves like credit cards best. Those they purloin from hotel rooms, car glove compartments, wallets and purses cost the holders, insurers and issuers almost $40 million a year.

Fences peddle credit cards for $25 to $100 each; the buyers know they can acquire merchandise, luxuries and services worth many times that much before the loss is reported and the issuer cancels the card. Meanwhile, the victim is liable for everything charged.

Some of the advice advanced by the Association Institute notes that if hotels, banks and merchants send you unsolicited cards that you don't intend to use (or add to your collection), chop them into bits before discarding them. Ditto with expired cards, which thieves know how to alter. Card holders are also advised to buy credit card insurance: $1,000 coverage costs as little as $8 for three years.

So, if you are traveling to a convention this year, do as some seasoned travelers do — keep your money and credit cards in separate pockets. As one explained, "If a pickpocket gets either one, I'm in trouble — but if I lose both at the same time, then I'm sunk."

The Medal Collectors' Corner

by Virginia Culver, ANA 39457

Cristoforo Colombo

The World's Columbian Exposition held in Chicago, Illinois in 1892 and 1893 to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus resulted in a most prolific output of medals, tokens, and souvenirs of all varieties. A one-hundred-year tradition was thrown aside when the United States government struck its first commemorative fifty-cent souvenir coin. Elongated coins made their first appearance as souvenirs also. Since the new process for aluminum had been recently discovered, this metal was used extensively to acquaint everyone with its marvelous properties in the form of medals and tokens. The avaricious collector meets his challenge in the collection of Columbiana emanating from this great world's fair.

One of the most beautiful of such medals is the Milan medal. This was issued in Milan, Italy. It was designed by Prof. Pagliaghi and engraved by Capuccio and then struck by Stefano Johnson. The original issue was 102 mm. in size struck in bronze and white metal portraying a bust of Columbus on the obverse with allegorical figures of an Indian Princess and a draped Liberty around the sides clasping hands under a globe. "Cristoforo Colombo" surrounds the bust. The reverse shows the shields of many American states around a scene filled with allegorical figures. In the background the dome of the Capitol at Washington and the Brooklyn Bridge can be seen.

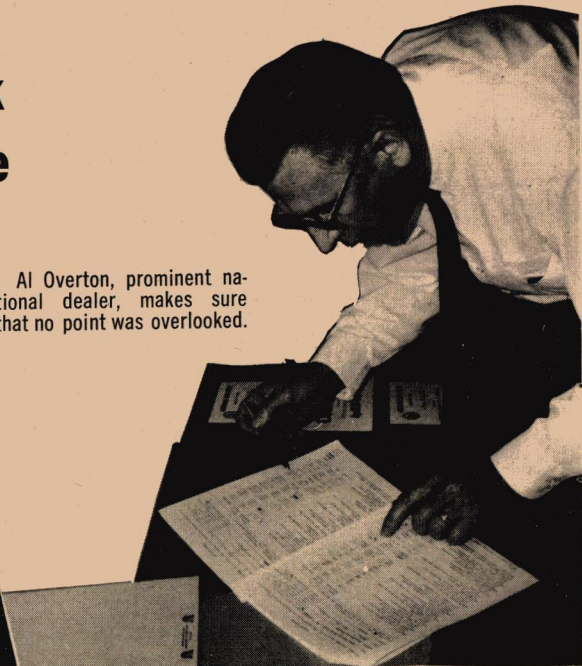

The dies for this medal were recut and a new obverse used to issue medals in 59mm. struck in bronze, white metal, and aluminum. The new obverse deleted the allegorical figures around Columbus' bust; the inscription around the rim is "Memento of The World's Fair, Chicago 1893; and Cristoforo was anglicized to "Christopher." Although the reverse remained the same, some of the high relief was lost when the new smaller dies were made. The original dies were also used to make a 58mm reduced size medal. Thus we find two varieties of the smaller medal. Many can still be found in their original leather presentation cases lined in velvet and are a lovely addition to any medal collector's cabinet.

Getting to the bottom of things! The all-male panel of six judges wasted little time in carefully checking each and every entry, but from this position we'll skip identification.

National Coin Week Judging At A Glance

Al Overton, prominent national dealer, makes sure that no point was overlooked.

The biggest entry and the best of its class came from Alaska's Totem Coin Club. Left to right, Clark S. Yowell, Clark A. Yowell, Richard Anderson and Clem Bailey do some leisure reading.

Yowell, author.

All the entries have been on display in the museum of the ANA in Colorado Springs. Abraham Hepner ANA 187

Abraham Hepner died May 19 at Mount Sinai Hospital in Miami Beach as the result of a heart block. He had been found unconscious on the floor of his room at the President Madison Hotel where he had been living for the past several years. Born in Georgetown, Colorado in 1875, he was 92 years old last December.

Abraham Hepner at the 1967 ANA convention in Miami.

He was one of the oldest living members of ANA and one of the oldest in point of membership, too, having joined in 1900 and number 187 was assigned to him. Mr. Hepner received his 50-year gold membership medal at the Milwaukee convention in 1950.

He will probably be best remembered by the membership for his rather unusual contribution to the ANA building fund of $187, which amount corresponded to his membership number. He was a frequent contributor at ANA conventions.

Mr. Hepner was given a rousing ovation when he was presented to the membership at the annual banquet at the 1967 ANA convention at Miami Beach.

He was most active to almost the very end, calling on dealers in the area just the week before he died. He belonged for many years to the Washington Numismatic Society, a life member of the Alexandria, Virginia club and the Miami Coin Club. He last exhibited at the Gold Coast Coin Club's spring show.

He is survived by two daughters, his two sons having preceded him in death by two years. Burial was in the family plot in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Walter M. Booth ANA 5331

Graveside services were recently held for Walter M. Booth, 81, Birmingham, Alabama, at Maplewood Cemetery, Pulaski, Tennessee. A native of Pulaski, Mr. Booth had lived in Birmingham for the past 48 years.

During the organization years of the Birmingham Coin Club, he contributed his service by exhibits, programs, and was a true collector who shared with others his hobby and knowledge in many fields of numismatics.

He was charter member no. 2 in BCC, held the office of the president during the second year of the club in 1946. In ANA he received his 25-year continuous membership medal in 1961. Mr. Booth was voted life membership emeritus in the Birmingham club when he became inactive because of illness.—OHM.

Robert T. Ferris ANA 11568

Robert T. Ferris, who lived for years in the Media, Pa., area and lately on Cape Cod, Mass., died on Sunday, May 12, at the age of 63. He was a graduate of the Philadelphia School of the Bible and served as president of its alumni association. A devoted pillar of his church, he was a member for many years of the governing body of the First Baptist Church in Media, as well as teaching an adult Bible class. He lectured here and on Cape Cod on "The Coins of the Bible."

Mr. Ferris was an engineer in the construction division of the Philadelphia Electric Company and had retired at the end of 1967 after 29 years with this company. He was a past president of the Employees' Association and was vitally interested in its hobby groups. He helped organize and served as the first president of the Philadelphia Electric Company Coin Club. Mr. Ferris had written articles on the subject of forming hobby groups and especially coin clubs within industrial groups.

Mr. Ferris served as president of the Philadelphia Coin Club in 1950-51, was the capable assistant general chairman of the 1957 ANA convention in Philadelphia, was interested in the formation of the Middle Atlantic Numismatic Association and served as co-chairman for the 1962 MANA convention.

He served on various ANA committees over the years and this year served as chairman of the Heath Literary Awards committee; he had about completed his work here when he was stricken in late March.

He is survived by his wife, Harriet; three daughters and one son; and five grandchildren. — AS.

Martin Luther King to be Society Subject

The Chase Commemorative Society has announced that Dr. Martin Luther King will be the subject of their next commemorative medal. It will be offered in silver and bronze and produced for the society by Medallic Art Company of New York. Designed by Rolf Beck, 28-year-old son of famed sculptor, Curt Beck, under whose tutelage he learned bas-relief sculpture, the medal bears King's portrait on the obverse and the reverse notes a quotation from one of his last speeches, I HAVE SEEN THE PROMISED LAND, and the rallying cry of the civil rights movement, WE SHALL OVERCOME. A cross and sunburst complete the reverse design. It will be made available to the general public as well as members of the medal society. The medals are silver-dollar sized and will sell for $9.50 for the silver, $5 for the bronze.

Cause For Congratulations

Working on a committee — any committee — is one of the best ways to get extra dividends from your dues investment. It's the difference between watching golf on television and actually teeing off for hours of pleasant challenging play. Or between watching Congress from the visitor's gallery and drafting the measures before they go to the floor.

Just as in Washington or the state capitol, essential decisions on association policy and practice are framed in committee. Being a committee member gives you a voice — and a partial veto — on what, and how, important things are to be done. It puts you in close partnership with the other VIPs. Your letter of appointment is a genuine seal of approval.

Under our constitution and by-laws, every member has a right to serve on a committee. But there are only so many vacancies to fill, plus the problem of matching interests and special aptitudes against the openings that exist. Also, out of all the members, which ones are most willing to devote the time and effort involved? Which ones can be counted on to (1) attend the committee meetings; (2) come prepared to dissect, discuss and decide the issues; (3) take whatever implementing steps are needed or desirable, and (4) contribute to other members' enjoyment by relaxing with them sociably when occasion warrants.

Obviously, volunteering is the best solution. If your answers to such questions would be affirmative, why not step forward? Don't be hesitant. Write or see when you are in San Diego for the national the ANA president, Arthur Sipe, name two or three committees on which you would be glad to serve, so a proper choice can be made.

"A recent report by Winthrop Aldrich, board chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York, recommends the return of the gold standard by the United States, and the coinage of gold pieces again would probably result. Collectors will thus have an opportunity, if the proposal receives favorable action by Congress, of seeing eagles and half eagles again, of different sizes and weights than formerly, and perhaps new designs. . . . There is no intimation from Washington that the coinage of gold will be resumed this year. It may possibly be so. An ounce of gold has been relatively fixed at $20.67 per fine ounce since about 1820. Its current value is about two-thirds higher, as of January, 1934." — The Numismatist, March 1940.

Notes & Queries

OIN's Speakers Three for ANA

In addition to the regular ANA Educational Forum, scheduled for Thursday evening, August 22, at the 77th Anniversary Convention in San Diego, the Organization of International Numismatists will present a stellar program earlier in the day.

Peggy Borgolte, secretary-treasurer of OIN, will act as moderator and present Clement F. Bailey, James Ford Clapp, Jr., and Clyde Hubbard, all well-known figures in the numismatic world.

Clement F. Bailey hails from the coin collectors' capital, Iola, Wisconsin, where he is a member of the editorial staff of Krause Publications. Among his columns are: This'n That, Coin Clinic, Numismania, Collectors' Queries, and New Coins Log Book.

Clem Bailey's subject for the afternoon will be, Knights of St. John of Jerusalem or the Knights of Malta. He first became interested in the knights while guiding a tour of Europe for Numismatic News in 1965. One of his assignments was to visit the smallest sovereignty in the world while in Rome.

He has a 20-year background in the electronics field, so part of his presentation will include the use of video-tape, a first for a numismatic forum.

James Ford Clapp, Jr., is from Cambridge, Massachusetts, you'll know it the minute you hear him speak. His subject—Coinage of Antioch. Jim Clapp is one of the best known collectors in the field of ancient coins and has given many lectures over the years. He was a lecturer on the subject at numismatic classes held at MIT in Cambridge, Mass.

He is a past president of the New England Numismatic Association, the Boston Numismatic Society, and has held many offices in other coin groups including general chairman for the 1960 ANA convention in Boston. Aside from his hobby, he is a nationally known architect with many well-known buildings and institutions to his credit.

Clyde Hubbard needs little introduction, he is one of the foremost authorities in the field of Mexican collecting. His authoritative articles, written for many years, and his lecturing on his specialties, are known to the thousands of Mexican collectors throughout the world. The coinage of Mexico has attracted a tremendous amount of interest over the last few years and its early coinage is replete with the history and economics of North America during the Spanish Colonial period.

Clyde Hubbard's topic for the day will be, The Pillar Coinage of Mexico, 1732-1771.

Hoosier of the Year Title to William T. Louth

William T. Louth, president of Medallion Art Company, New York City, was named "Hoosier of the Year" by the New York Sons of Indiana in a recent ceremony at the Hotel Pierre in New York.

Presenting Louth with the award was radio and TV personality Chris Schenkel, recipient of the same award in 1967. Prior recipients of the "Hoosier of the Year" award have included such notables as Wendell L. Willkie, Ernie Pyle, Bernard F. Gimbel, Ford Frick, Alfred C. Kinsey, Gil Hodges, Herb Shriner and Bernard Kilgore.

In making the presentation, Chris

Schenkel, in his familiar radio diction, recalled Bill Louth's past accomplishments and business success, stating, "here's a man who doesn't substitute wishbone for backbone."

As sportscaster for ABC Sports, Schenkel pointed out that in this Olympic year, the "Hoosier of the Year" award goes to "a man who has more medals than any Olympian in history."

The Sons of Indiana in New York is a New York City organization composed of Hoosiers who — according to their credo — "have fond memories of their former life in Indiana and want to bring honor and credit to the state."

Eric Newman Receives Nathan Gold Award

The Nathan Gold Memorial Award for 1968 has been presented to Eric P. Newman of St. Louis, Missouri, one of America's most outstanding numismatic scholars and authorities and frequent contributor to The Numismatist. While his contributions are evidenced in all fields, he has expended considerable efforts in the area of colonial numismatics.

It was for his monumental work on the currency of our colonial period — The Early Paper Money of America — that Newman was named to receive the 1968 Gold Award. Published just about a year ago, this contribution to the scientific study of our hobby was immediately accepted. The first presentation in 1961 went to Fred Marckhoff, while the subsequent awards have gone to James Kirkwood, Arlie Slabaugh, Matt H. Rothert, Grover C. Criswell, William P. Donlon and Neil Shafer.

Mobile Money Museum on Move in Metropolitan Michigan

The nation's first mobile money museum was unveiled recently during special ceremonies at the National Bank of Detroit. Sporting a softly-lighted, spacious interior, it is a veritable miniature numismatic museum highlighting the development of coins from the 2,600 year old Lydian electrum staters to the modern coinage of the United States. More than a dozen specially designed exhibit panels cover the full sweep of numismatic history and media of exchange. From gizzi pennies to Yap stones, Greek tetradrachms to United States large cents, the exhibits present selected coins, paper money and odd and curious items from all over the world.

In designing the unique displays, the primary objective was the teaching of economics and money throughout the city of Detroit. Aimed primarily at students in the Detroit Metropolitan School District, the Mobile Museum will travel among elementary and junior high schools carrying the message of man's 2500-year experience with money.

Building and equipping the museum required three months of intensive effort to produce. A built-in generator powers ceiling lighting, exhaust fans and an onboard furnace as well as a revolving picture-panel. A back-lighted five foot transparency panel illustrates in color photos the development of coins and money from the ancient treasuries of Egypt to the modern crown-size silver coins of the twentieth century.

Snugly secured to each panel are some of numismatics' finest specimens. Coins of Alexander the Great and Julius Caesar; Byzantine nummia and solidi and Medieval English sceates; pennies of Charlemagne and William the Conqueror; Renaissance testons and gold florins from Milan and Florence; the first dollar-size coin and the first English crown; each has its own place in a numismatist's dream that promises visitors the opportunity of a lifetime to see the world's great coins.

Wanted: Articles for Publication

American Numismatic Association president, Arthur Sipe, recently announced the appointment of a Committee on Papers which, in the words of the association's bylaws, "Shall invite members and others to furnish papers which will be considered for publication" in The Numismatist. He named Glenn B. Smedley chairman of the committee with Charles R. Hoskins, director of the Money Museum of the National Bank of Detroit, and Mrs. Margo Russell, editor of Coin World, as members.

In the association's earlier years it was customary for a few papers on numismatic subjects to be read at its annual conventions. Since the development of the educational forum, which had its inception at the 1946 convention in Davenport, Iowa, this planned feature has superseded the "hit-and-miss" reading of papers.

For many years editors of The Numismatist, the official monthly publication of the association, have not wanted for educational and informative articles. However, they do not always have the variety of subject matter which makes for a well-rounded magazine. Recently, for example, there has been a need for articles relating to United States numismatics and it is for such material that the present committee appeals.

The attention of potential authors is called to the fact that The Numismatist is "For Collectors of Coins, Medals, Tokens and Paper Money." Thus the subject matter is by no means limited to coins alone, even though the popular term for the hobby is "coin collecting."

Certainly one element in the present situation is that there are many other numismatic periodicals, general and specialized, which seek and publish articles. The ANA does not discount or discourage these publications; yet the Committee on Papers would mention a few facts and factors which authors should consider.

As compared to most of the publications of specialized organizations, The Numismatist reaches a larger number of collectors and students. Most ANA members preserve their magazines, so that articles which do not appeal to certain readers when published may be referred to later. This permanence and ready availability for future reference is a very important feature of articles published by the association.

At this time of the year it is particularly appropriate to call attention to the Heath Literary Award which is made at the annual ANA convention to member authors. Articles written by members and published in The Numismatist during the preceding calendar year are judged on their merits by an impartial committee for this coveted award, which was established in 1949 and memorializes the founder of the magazine and the association.

Awards consist of one or two silver medals, usually three bronze medals, and several honorary mention citations. Articles written by elected or salaried officers of the association are not considered for medal awards. Worthy articles written by non-members are published but are not eligible for a Heath Literary Award.

The association does not pay for articles but the editor may reimburse authors' out-of-pocket expenses, such as for photographs, postage, etc. While the Committee on Papers will be happy to hear from and to attempt to advise anyone considering the writing of a paper, for the most part communications should be directed to The Numismatist, Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80901.

Current Coins of the World

by R. S. Yeoman

2nd Edition

When Whitman brought out the first edition of this book, coin collectors in many lands were aware of its need, created by the many new countries and issues that had come into being. It was immediately accepted as the standard reference.

Now, the second edition . . . 1969 . . . is available through your dealer. Coin valuations worldwide (1940-1968) have been studied and updated, with all new issues added.

This volume, along with two other Whitman books, form an unparalleled trilogy on world issues 1750 to date. The other publications are:

Coins of the World 1750-1850

Modern World Coins 1850-1964

Announcing the SOLID BRONZE Bicentennial Edition of THE FRANKLIN MINT HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES
— the only Solid Bronze Edition of this magnificent work that will ever be minted

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

An extraordinary series of 200 art medals commemorating the first 200 years of United States history — to be struck in Solid Bronze by The Franklin Mint at the rate of two medals per month, beginning in July 1968 and ending in 1976 during the nation's Bicentennial Celebration.

ADVANCE SUBSCRIPTION ONLY.
SUBSCRIPTION ROLLS CLOSE JULY 4, 1968.
Limit: One Subscription per Person.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

HISTORIES have been chiseled in stone, scratched on papyrus and printed on paper. Now the exciting, dramatic, picturesque history of our great country is about to be recorded in Solid Bronze—on a breathtaking panorama of 200 art medals, each superbly minted with a brilliant proof-like finish by the world-renowned craftsmen of The Franklin Mint.

You are invited to join with us in this unique one-hundred-month-long adventure.

While traveling through two hundred years of our nation's history during the course of these one hundred months, you will be systematically accumulating, at very low cost, a beautiful heirloom collection of limited-edition medallic art which may well become the most interesting and valuable series of art medals ever to be created.

First Edition Proof Sets, in sterling silver and solid platinum, were originally offered in April of this year. The demand was so great that more than a thousand subscription applications had to be turned away. Now — for a very limited period of time — the same series will be available, exclusively on an Advance Subscription basis, in Solid Bronze. And this will be the only Solid Bronze Edition of this magnificent work ever to be minted.

Advance Subscribers will be guaranteed a constant cost ($3.00 per medal) for the entire series – for 100 months – regardless of whatever happens in labor costs, in the metals markets or in international finance. This guarantee is being made despite the fact that cost of labor and materials has increased substantially during the past year, and despite the fact that many monetary experts have warned of possible devaluation of the dollar (which would most likely increase the value of all metal products and all limited-edition works of art) if our international balance of payments deficits are not corrected.

To reinforce this unusual 100-month-long price protection, and to assure a constant source of supply regardless of world conditions, The Franklin Mint will set aside—for each Advance Subscriber—a sufficient amount of raw material to cover the entire series of two hundred medals. As a publicly-owned corporation, The Franklin Mint has the resources to back up this guarantee with a net worth exceeding $2,000,000.00.

The Solid Bronze Edition of each medal will follow the Silver and Platinum Editions by exactly three months. The first two bronze medals, commemorating the years 1776 and 1777, will be issued in July 1968. Two additional medals will be completed every month thereafter. The final two medals in the series, commemorating the years 1974 and 1975, will be issued during the nation's Bicentennial Celebration in 1976 — at which time a complete set will be presented to the President of the United States.

Each medal in this series will depict the "Event of the Year" on one side, with a chronology of the year's most significant dates on the other side. The events to be commemorated are being selected with the aid of a blue ribbon panel of eminent historians, headed by Dr. Roy Nichols, one of America's most distinguished scholars, a Pulitzer Prize winner and former Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences of the University of Pennsylvania.

All of the medals will be 1½" in diameter—a distinctive size substantially larger than a silver dollar, even larger than an English Crown. Two deluxe matching albums to house the complete set of two hundred medals will be provided to each subscriber at no additional charge – the first volume initially, the second volume at the midway point.

To protect the integrity of this special edition, only one Solid Bronze Set will be minted for each subscriber. No quantity orders will be accepted; no additional sets of this special edition will be produced for future sale.

Whether you wish to acquire this unique collection for investment, for educational purposes, for personal enjoyment or for use as a gift par excellence—you can be assured that it is truly a work of great artistic and historical significance, one that you can reasonably expect to grow in importance, and quite possibly in value also, as the years pass by.

You may enter your Advance Subscription on the form that appears below or on a duplicate of same. Please remember, however, that this special edition is limited to one set per person and that your application must be postmarked by July 4, 1968.

The satisfaction of being associated with a project of this importance, the excitement of seeing America's heritage so beautifully portrayed, the thrill of building such a magnificent collection at such a low cost — may soon be yours, providing you act promptly.

THE FRANKLIN MINT

YEADON, PENNSYLVANIA U.S.A.

ADVANCE SUBSCRIPTION APPLICATION

Must Be Postmarked By July 4, 1968 • Limit: One Solid Bronze Set Per Subscriber

The Franklin Mint, Yeadon, Pennsylvania 19050

Please enter my subscription for one complete BICENTENNIAL EDITION of The Franklin Mint History of the United States, consisting of two hundred art medals to be struck in Proof-Like Solid Bronze at the rate of two per month, beginning in July, 1968.

The price charged by The Franklin Mint for these medals is guaranteed to be maintained at $3.00 each for the duration of this subscription, regardless of whatever happens in labor costs, in the metals markets or in international finance during this period of time.

If my subscription is accepted, I understand that these medals will be struck expressly for my account, and I agree to pay for each pair of medals promptly upon being invoiced on a monthly prepayment basis. I will also receive, at no additional cost, two deluxe albums to house this set, the first volume to be sent to me initially and the second at the midway point.

Enclosed is my remittance of $6.00 ($6.36 for Pennsylvania residents) to cover the cost of the first two medals. This remittance is to be returned to me by July 30, 1968 if my subscription is not accepted.

RARE HAWAIIAN COINS AT DISCOUNT PRICES

Low mintage. Listed in the Red Book. Many melted, especially dollars of which over 400,000 were melted, according to the records at San Francisco. Many additional coins of each denomination were lost to the sea during a revolt by the people against the government in 1893. Few were left. In fact — during our visit to Hawaii we searched the Islands to locate Hawaiian coins and discovered to our amazement that few people living on the Islands even knew that these coins existed. Most inhabitants were amazed when we showed them coins struck by the U. S. Mint for circulation in Hawaii. They are not only no longer in circulation, but few Hawaiians realize that at one time they had their own coinage. Check your Red Book — Excellent investment potential per dollar invested.

Cromwell's Cousin

John Hampden, born in 1595, is today chiefly remembered for his refusal to pay Ship Money, a tax imposed by Charles I for the raising of a fleet.

This was by no means his only claim to fame. He was a cousin of Oliver Cromwell, entered Parliament at the age of 26 and was instrumental in the prosecution of Stafford. With the outbreak of the Civil War he raised troops for Parliament but in a skirmish with Prince Rupert's army at Chalgrove Field in 1643 he was mortally wounded.

This superb round plate of gold bears a fine portrait of Hampden stamped in imitation of engraving.

This is just one example from our large stock of fascinating medallic pieces available for purchase.
